

Traditionally Modern, An Exhibition by Georgina Stanley

Friday 30 June to Wednesday 26 July

Figurative painter, Georgina Stanley completed her formal artistic training over three years at the Florence Academy of Art. She graduated with the prize for portraiture and began a career as a full time artist in London.

Whilst she continues to accept a limited number of portrait commissions each year, her work has moved largely to focus on the genre of Still Life. She shows a particular flair for the depiction of a wide range of materials and surfaces, and she enjoys capturing the often fleeting moments of life before decay. In her studio she works exclusively from life, and from natural light, taking inspiration from a variety of sources; from her local markets of Brixton, to travels she has been on and the work of Old Masters she admires.

Her work has been seen in a number of both group and solo shows and hangs in many private collections around the world.
