

Toy Box Treasures

by Susannah Nathanson

Friday 8 December to Friday 5 January 2024

This exhibition shines a spotlight on the magic, beauty and nostalgic charm of vintage toys, celebrating their weathered, playworn characters.

Growing up surrounded by her father's dusty collection, Susannah was fascinated by these old die-cast treasures from an early age and has frequented many toy fairs herself on the hunt for something special. These toys, with their unique array of flecks and patina have a sculptural, dynamic quality that invites connection. They are miniature but mighty in how they capture the spirit of an age and engage our imaginations.

Susannah is a London-based artist, with an MA in Fine Art from the Edinburgh College of Art and University. She specializes in story-telling paintings of people, animals, and treasured objects, with over 20 years' experience exhibiting and working with clients on commission.

She works both in oil on canvas and over the last five years has begun applying these skills to digital painting, using a pressure sensitive tablet and stylus to paint freehand on a screen. This exhibition includes artworks in both mediums.

Susannah is happy to accept commission requests. Please contact the Picture Gallery to get in touch.
