GIN SELECTION

A BRIEF HISTORY OF GIN

Gin, a spirit which derives its predominant flavour from juniper berries, has evolved over the course of hundreds of years from a herbal medicine to one of the most popular spirits amongst our members.

From the early 17th century troops fighting in the low countries during the Thirty Years' War looked to gin for Dutch courage during long campaigns, and to keep them warm in the damp and difficult conditions. Many of the troops brought gin back into England. In the 1660s the famous diarist Samuel Pepys wrote of "strong water made with juniper" that was used as a treatment for colic; although whether this was for his own ailment or for infants remains unclear.

When King William III, better known as William of Orange, came to the English throne in 1689, he actively encouraged the distillation of English spirits. The distillation process took place on a small scale, and though the quality was below average, it fast became a popular tippie of the working classes. On the odd occasion, gin was distributed to workers as part of their wages and soon the volume sold daily exceeded that of beer and ale, which was more expensive.

The 18th century saw laws passed and gin being taxed and made available for sale only in public houses. Gin was transformed from a beverage of escapism for the working class to one of moderation for the middle class.

During the 19th century, the quality of gin progressed into a new league. Prior to this, gin bore no resemblance to the gins of today; it was a thick, sweet, full, rich drink with heavy juniper notes. With improvements in both the understanding and quality of distillation of gin there was no longer a need for sugar and glycerine to mask the rank spirit.

Gradually, it became drier, with delicate, complex flavours, introduced courtesy of a wide range of exotic botanicals; more like the drink we know today.

It became known as 'London Dry Gin' simply because most distillers were based in the capital. There has never been a requirement to be geographically connected to London; the term then referred to a style, which later became a defined production method.

Today, gin is one of the most popular and widely distributed range of spirits and is represented by products of various origins, styles and flavours that all revolve around juniper as a common ingredient. Typically, a fine gin contains between six and ten botanicals.

HURRICANE HERITAGE COCKTAILS

£14.00

1 Hawker Hurricane

Foursquare Spiced rum, Lamb's Navy rum, pineapple and passionfruit juice, lime juice, sugar syrup and Angostura bitters

A full-throttle Hurricane powered by the dual-engine kick of Foursquare Spiced and Lamb's Navy rum. Tropical and spice-forward, crafted to honour the legendary aircraft that helped turn the tide of the war - and inspired our bar's name.

2 D.F.C (Distinguished Flyers Club)

Royal Automobile Club gin, raspberry syrup, lemon juice, egg white and raspberry powder garnish

Commemorating the Distinguished Flying Cross, awarded to Pilot Officer Peter Simpson, with our house Club gin and vibrant raspberry. Elegantly finished with a 'Flying Cross' stencil.

3 Rolls Royce Merlin

Bombay Sapphire gin, Martini Rosso vermouth, Noilly Prat vermouth, D.O.M Bénédictine liqueur and orange bitters

A supercharged martini-style cocktail dedicated to Sir Sydney Camm, the engineering mastermind behind the Hawker Hurricane. Powered with London dry gin, toasting the precision of craftsmanship.

4 No.2 Aviation

Aviation gin, blue curaçao, maraschino liqueur, sugar syrup, lemon juice, lemon twist garnish

A botanical aviation inspired by Pilot Officer Peter Simpson's tactical call sign, 'Blue 2'. This crisp riff captures moments of high altitude flights and blue skies.

5 Tom-Cat Collins

Maker's Mark bourbon, Antica Formula vermouth, Himalayan tea syrup, lemon juice and lemon tonic.

Bespoke, like our aviator chairs, this cocktail combines the velvety warmth of Maker's Mark and Antica Formula, deepened with Himalayan Gold tea syrup, finished with a sharp lemon tonic. A malty, sophisticated fuel for the pilot's seat.

£14.00

6 Ace of Southside

Beefeater gin, St Germain liqueur, sugar syrup, lime juice, fresh mint and cucumber

Born in Hove, this is a toast to Pilot Officer Peter Simpson. A cool, calm and collected twist on the classic Southside, and a fitting serve for the flying ace from the south side of England.

7 3 as 1

Royal Automobile Club 15yo Glenfarclas scotch, Cointreau, cherry brandy and cherry liqueur

A treble construction of equal parts scotch, Cointreau and cherry brandy, this cocktail pays tribute to the legendary 111 Squadron, in which Pilot Officer Peter Simpson flew alongside his Squadron Leader, John M. Thompson, and Flight Lieutenant Stanley Dudley Pearce Connors.

8 1940 Scramble

Greenman Wildwood vodka, Archers peach schnapps, peach purée, lime, egg white, Chambord liqueur and Angostura bitters
Celebrating Pilot Officer Peter Simpson's survival following a dogfight over the Woodcote Park estate, the bright citrus notes and peach notes evoke the relief of landing on the 18th fairway, while a deep Chambord drizzle marks his victorious return.

9 A Packet of Player's

Morin Selection calvados, King's Ginger liqueur, manzanilla sherry, oak-smoked glass and cinnamon cigar garnish

Inspired by the Mark Postlethwaite painting in the Hurricane Bar, this drink is a smoky homage to the moment Pilot Officer Peter Simpson proved his identity to suspicious members by waving a packet of British Player's cigarettes.

10 RAF at the Royal Automobile Club

Martell VSOP cognac, Frangelico liqueur, Angostura bitters, brown sugar cube, expressed orange peel garnish

After proving his identity, Pilot Officer Peter Simpson was welcomed into the Club and offered a brandy. This cocktail draws on that moment: a decadent creation stirred and served neat in a balloon glass to toast an historic meeting between the Royal Air Force and the Royal Automobile Club.
